DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 12-21 are present for examination. Claims 1-11 were cancelled by preliminary amendment filed on 9/6/01.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

- (b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.
- 3. Claims 12 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Glenn et al., U.S. Pat. No. 4,707,832, hereinafter '832.
- 4. As per claims 12 and 20, Glenn '832 teaches a switched point to point local network control mechanism having: allocation of rights to at least one channel/shared control channel, useable by a plurality of subscriber stations/nodes, transmitting signals/duplex communications, access authorization data/probability, an evaluation unit, determining whether access authorization data has a threshold value/traffic density and comparing it with a random number to determine the granting of access rights ( abs., col. 2, lines 2-5 et seq. and lines 23-40 et seq., col. 3, lines 55 et seq., col. 4, lines 3-10 et seq., col. 5, lines 7-11 et seq., and col. 11-13).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

- 5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
  - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.
- 6. Claim 13 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over '832 as applied to claim 12.
- 7. As to claim 13, '832 teach the claimed invention as recited above in claim 12, not explicitly taught is the condition of a random number being greater than or equal to the access threshold. The examiner takes official notice of both the modification and motive for making a determination based upon a number being greater, lesser or equal to a given value. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention, to modify the invention of '832 to arbitrarily use values of a given size as chosen by the system designer. A person of ordinary skill in the art would have chosen to perform such a modification because, the making of a decision based upon whether or not one desires a value to be greater or lesser is a rudimentary skill in the data processing arts. With such a desire in mind a person of ordinary skill in the art could have chosen to base a decision on whether the value is greater, lesser or equal as a convenience and other arbitrary reason.

Allowable Subject Matter

- 8. Claims 14-19, and 21 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
- 9. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: A search of the prior art fails to teach or render as obvious the claimed features as a whole and in particular, in connection with the independent claim the features of having the access value based upon class, or priority. While these features individually are known in the art, there does not appear to be a teaching to combine it with the present method for channel transmission optimization.

Conclusion

10. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
